

Scorpio Solar Eclipse Stardrops October 23 2022

With the Sun and Venus conjoined at 29° Libra this weekend the message for all is the only thing that matters in this world is love. Venus rules this love and also what you value, treasure. Love at the root of creation, manifesting all things we need to survive. Love is at the core of it all. Because Pluto has been in square with this Sun/Venus up until a few days ago, the contrast between this idealistic of what we value versus facing burdens either our own or the state of the world has been heavy. Yet Venus Sun wins out with each person experiencing their own overcoming, their personal choices of beauty, relationships, love, music, harmony and a continual commitment to what they value the most in life that is worth fighting for.

The Sun and Moon move into Scorpio and form a Partial Solar Eclipse

The Partial Solar Eclipse Located In Europe/Russia Region

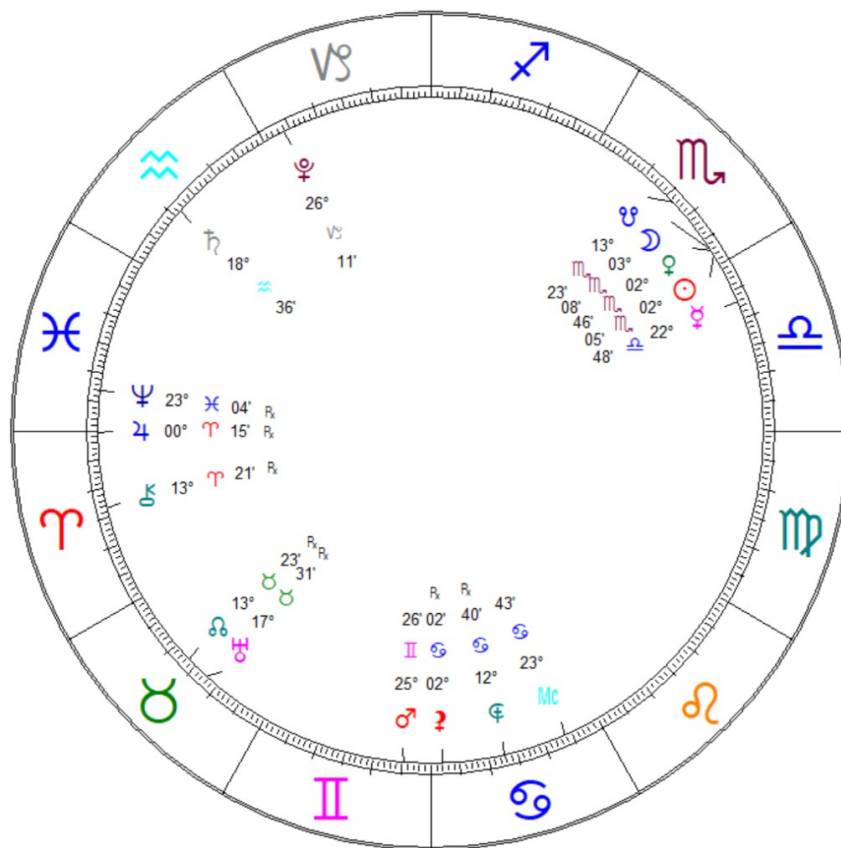

As the Sun and Moon move towards a conjunction at 2° Scorpio Solar Eclipse on October 25, our new power will be the concentration upon Scorpio issues. Because Mars and Pluto are natural rulers of Scorpio, taking a look at these planets can give us a clue what is highlighted before us to pay attention to now.

Mars is still in Gemini square Neptune in Pisces. This emphasizes a theme of challenging Neptune dysfunctions, unable to know outcomes, confusion and all sorts of ghostly unresolved problems hanging around. Whether they are in our own lives, or old things in our possession which must go as they carry memories. sometimes entities and vibrations undermining our future happiness, that purge cycle we spoke about in recent Stardrops is necessary. Mars could confront unresolved issues with others, our important relationships... it's time for Mars in Gemini to take them on logically, systematically and handle them.

Empowerment with Gemini facts, motivation, mental strength and clarity to tackle issues head on will be the way to dissolve these Neptune issues.

If they are strange moods and disturbing energies you might be picking up, it's time for affirmations spoken outloud to re-connect with your clarity and power, while dissolving the disturbances. Replace these negatives with that positive declaration demanding it be removed. (Affirmation Below)

Solar Eclipse October 25 2022

As the Eclipse inconjuncts Jupiter in Aries, in typical Scorpio fashion, a fair amount of feeling out of control could occur. Many global activities will have to make hard adjustments and choices beyond their control to comply with inevitable demanding powers. Back and forth escalations with both sides equally dissatisfied makes a recipe for an unsatisfactory time for any form of negotiations or constructive change. Yet WE, move forward.

Every side is demanding, stubborn and tenacious, taking actions based on fear of loss, lack and being at a severe disadvantage. With Pluto inconjunct Mars and Jupiter inconjunct Solar Eclipse, realizing desperately, one is out of control of the ultimate ideal they thought they would accomplish, and the world experiences their extreme panic.

Jupiter in Aries inconjunct Solar Eclipse in Scorpio is a theme and about needing but not having extreme control, impulsiveness, immediate actions taken with very little patience, ill thought through plans, reactions and aggression. Leaders in power roles might appear confident, calculating but many are crumbling inside unsure of why their moves are not producing the results they hoped for.

For some of us during this period we could be experiencing simply a big inconvenience or frustration of some sort, yet sense an obligation, temporarily as if something were out of your own control. Patience is required. But our cycle of adjustments and obligations to move through challenges is not the same test as global powers.

Imagine the posture of world leaders, not even simply of nations alone, every focal point of world influence engaging in some form of terrible altercation with something threatening to interfere, an out of control yet extreme urge to regain control no matter what with no guarantee of achieving it. Imagine the fear, few of them having the higher vision of the Divine Self and Purpose based upon love we are talking about here. During this time of chaos, some must project a powerful message onto the ethers. We must hold the balance during these times as those in power positions also have really big weapons and technology in their hands.

With Mars square Neptune, we have a theme of mysterious unknown outcomes and peculiar unseen goings on (financially and resources). This is familiar to us as we've experienced this sort of thing and can be patient wading through the Seas of Neptune's mists, as Mars square Neptune will be soon over, late November. But most will succumb to the craziness of Neptune square with misconceptions, manipulations and media misinformation and so many more deceptions. In our own life, the mists also should clear as we approach the end of November.

The Pluto inconjunct Mars in Gemini tells us that each major conflict and posturing between these forces of influence, whether nations, leaders and organizations who are in positions of control etc.... are playing out an old ancient karmic confrontation with each other at this time, and it is coming to a head. And these leaders/nations/entities are at odds with each other by proxy as they are not even the originators of these challenging positions between each one, but an old imbalance out pictured from those in an unseen place who long ago had designs upon humanity and the earth.

These powers which are vying for control (Jupiter in Aries) are using lower humans to push their goals, but with inconjuncts, no one wins and no one rescues them this time, No one opens a door for them to gracefully walk out and save their necks. It's the era, the time we're living in, and that is the nature of a Pluto inconjunct. Pick any two themes which appear polarizing throughout the world. Disappointments and confusion escalate and ends badly.

Venus, Sun and Moon in Scorpio within this eclipse will be the power that can override all forms of potential disaster for those who are riding on a higher wave of creation. In this eclipse moment, through the power of Venus, a penetration of higher power is overriding many of these potential dangerous activities which could impact us. These planets can be seen as powers of Light influencing millions who refuse to be dragged down in this ancient agenda of fear, in destructive altercations and polarizing but instead striving to rise above these conflicts and make a better life. But with Scorpio, it demands resourcefulness.

However, those who contribute to the chaos, can not escape what they have created. Our purpose is to call down protection for the innocent.

The power of Venus, Sun, Moon can create a movement of higher purpose in play while the lower dysfunctional games continue. Our role is to hold strong the more constructive creative movement, personally and globally with great confidence while being fully aware of the lower destructive events happening on earth. The positive must energetically be stronger in our vision than the destructive situations. One by one those who can will step up and replace the old guard.

These are the higher pure powers of vision fueled by love given to millions to inspire the true meaning of life on earth, overcoming the illusion of powerlessness wherever you find yourself and finding the way to bring positive outcomes into the world around us.

The test is simple. No matter what negatives surround us in this world, our assignment is to be determined to overcome and infuse this life with Scorpio resourcefulness and the confidence that somehow love will win, to overcome and transform, regardless of the odds. This is the key. This world is real, but at the same time it's a test... an illusion. The world is important, yet we need to rise above it with a vision that understands, it's a test of seeing through and above whatever challenge is before us. Seeing through is the key. Resourcefulness and the power to create is the key. And isn't Scorpio all about vision? Doesn't it represent the third eye, our pineal gland which has access to other dimensions of reality? Eye-magic? (Imagination)

Courage, tenacity and commitment will be demanded from us even though this Jupiter in Aries inconjunct threatens to interfere. Whether it be the illusion of loss of control (Aries) over the economic state, changes, reset, war, nuclear threat, politics or more personal challenges, an adjustment in our vision and understanding what we're really doing here and what we're up against which appears so incredibly real, must be replaced with a greater way of life. And, seeing those who use to appear so credible, as a sad example of human potential, a mistake.

This is not a simple task as it goes against our five senses and that Mars in Gemini's factual logical reality of this 3rd dimensional human life.

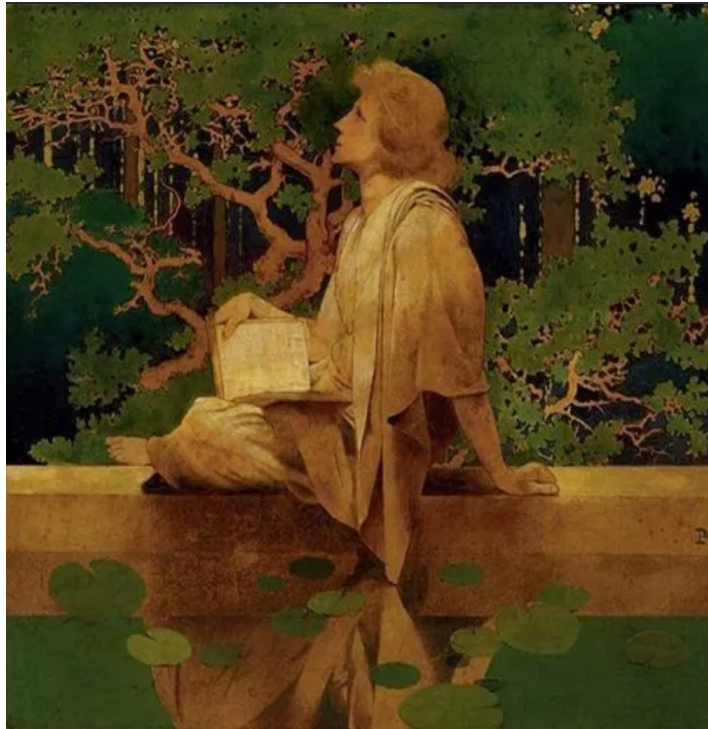

Scorpio has always been a Mystical Initiation. Well, we're in one now and it's truly time to be exercising our creative powers to transform and overcome the things we don't like around us. And you know what else is a Scorpio test? Tenacity and patience, because Scorpio tests usually last a while. so endurance until the thing is over for real, will be required from all of us.

This eclipse could signify an ever growing separation between the lesser world of those who destructively control in the most extreme insane manner versus those who can harness positive projections of ideal creations as an architect designing a future beautiful in every way. So along with our patient vision, it naturally becomes action that can also build, acquire, create and prepare. Gathering people around you with whom you trust. That is a Scorpio positive action. Being materially smart, resourceful with your things you always need. That's a Scorpio power. And unfortunately, projecting the highest while realizing the worst possibilities, is a Scorpio asset.

As Venus, Sun and Moon in Scorpio trine the Black Moon in Cancer, some higher form of a plan, some certainty and security is in play all the while we're moving through challenging energies. This Black Moon trine can promise success as if overcoming were part of our destiny through this time.

A shift in life might be necessary. Is it physical, psychological? Is it the attitude or what we do with our time, our energies?

My purpose is to not make so much out of this Solar Eclipse which by the way sets a minor theme in the world for approximately five months, but it is an important point in that long list of events which spanned from end of September through November posted in Starfires Article Here. Trust each day, for what comes to you to handle is right on track. Right On Track.

AFFIRMATION

“I now command full access to my higher vision, confidence and inspiration to transform my world into love. I make room within my human life for inexplainable transformations to take place now. It spreads throughout every area of my life and into the world, rolling back dysfunction, vying for control, threats, fear and territorial nature of men at the risk of destruction. There is no destruction, only victorious peace, overcoming and the successful elimination of all terror, sadness, disappointment and fear.

Divine Self, come now into my life and live through and around me, before me and inside, everywhere I go, live, think and feel, and I accept this done in full power. “
